The moment you walk through the front door, you become the master of the house. Entertain your guests as and when you please... The Château becomes yours, and your desires guide you. A private vacation in a cosy setting: this is your second home. The Château responds to your seasonal needs: sporting activities, summer passions... it's your desires that give rhythm to each period of the year, wherever you are. The Château becomes the guardian of your seasonal desires. A haven of peace built in the 19th century, the Château hosted prestigious ceremonies organized by its former inhabitants, the Marquise de Preignes and Baron Empain.

Since its complete renovation in 2012 under the impetus of the new owner, the Château is now exclusively dedicated to complete privatization. First-rate comfort, personalized service and refined decoration... every detail has been thought out with respect for the spirit of the place. With its five reception rooms, ten enchanting suites, park and sumptuous gardens, the château is the ideal place to enjoy your vacation in complete privacy, organize your event or simply enjoy a special moment with your loved ones. Only 30 km from the center of Paris, with an exceptional private golf course adjoining, the PIGC - Paris International Golf Club, designed by Jack Nicklaus.

Rihanna and Beverly Hills

In the heart of Coldwater Canyon The 6 300 sq ft mansion is located in the exclusive 90210 neighborhood (who remembers the Friends series) and was built in the 1930s. There are plenty of glamorous, pop-star-worthy fixtures, including white oak French parquet floors, brass accents and marbled surfaces. Recently, the house has been transformed into an ultra-contemporary farmhouse that combines modern and traditional design in its architecture and interiors.

Sting and Trudie Styler villa in Figline Valdarno, Italy

Sting and Trudie spent summers in this 16th-century villa for more than 15 years, and now rent it to the public. Located about 45 minutes from Florence, the property is made up of not one, but six homes to stay in, with the Villa Palagio being the largest with nine double rooms. Wander around the Italian countryside, take a dip in the swimming pool, play a round of tennis, or jump in the onsite lake to cool off. Prices are upon request, but all include include housekeeping, Wi-Fi, concierge services, and more.

Villas de Stars

Staying in a luxury villa while on vacation is awesome. Staying in one where rock legends and Hollywood gods have roamed the halls? Downright amazing. Luckily, that possibility is not too far out of reach: There are a number of A-listers who own barely-used vacation homes and decided to open them up to the public for overnights. So, you too can live like a celebrity on your next getaway.

Mick Jagger's Stargroves Home

Mustique and music must go together, because the tiny island is also home to Mick Jagger's Japanese-themed villa—and comes with just as many rock star conveniences. Along with a Japanese-style six-bedroom oceanfront home connected via elevated walkways, you also get two full-time gardeners, one butler, and one Chef. There's an on-site tennis court, a large outdoor pool, a hot tub, and a game pavilion,

Stargroves Estates

David Copperfield's Musha Cay

This Bahamian private island is truly magical—and not just because of its famous owner. Here, there are five tropical-style guest houses lining the 700 acres, a private speedboat, beach-side daybeds, bikes, a gym, a championship-caliber tennis court, jet skis, and an outdoor theater called "Dave's Drive-In." But, this über exclusive escape might also just make your money disappear: you can only rent the whole island.

Musha Cay, Bahamas

Palm Springs Frank Sinatra or Leonardo di Caprio's Estates

Leo is all about sharing his homes with the world. While he previously rented out his Greenwich Village he also put up his mid-century modern SoCal for rent. In Palm Springs, a compound built by famed architect Donald Wexler includes a six-bedroom, seven-and-a-half bath main house, guesthouse, tennis court, casita, an in-ground pool, and maid service.

Also in Palm Springs the legendary estate of Frank Sinatra, with its 4 bedrooms, 7 bathrooms, period furniture and the famous piano-shaped swimming pool. With the music of Sinatra and the memories that dot the house in the desert away from Hollywood. It's an era for a crooner.

Richard Branson Virgin Limited Edition

Virgin LIMITED EDITION

Necker Island, private island, BVI

Located 15 minutes from Virgin Gorda island, Necker Island is a real tropical paradise with a stunning array of wildlife. From the first moment Sir Richard Branson visited Necker Island in 1978 he had a vision, one that has resulted in one of the world's most exclusive island retreats. Situated right in the middle of the island with panoramic views, Temple House and the Love Temple are built in the same Balinese style you'll find elsewhere on Necker and they're both a short walk from the Beach House. 15 rooms and villas.

Ulusaba Private Game Reserve, South Africa

Sense the ultimate adventure under a canopy of trees with Ulusaba Safari Lodge and experience the stunning view over the African bushveld, close to the famous Kruger Park. The unique tree-house accommodation is what sets this lodge apart from the rest. There are eleven luxurious suites that offer gorgeous views over the African bushveld, and even of the wildlife, including the Big Five, that passes by, lions, leopards, elephants, rhinoceros, Cape buffalos are all nearby as well as the famed saafis in the Kruger Park safaris.

Mahali Mzuri Kenyan Safari Camp, Kenya

Mahali Mzuri a 12-tented luxury safari camp in the Kenyan Bush. At Mahali Mzuri you'll have a front row seat, not just to the Wildebeest migration, but also to the abundant game you can see all year round. The camp is situated in the private Olare Motorogi Conservancy in the wider Maasai Mara ecosystem. The abundant animal life in the Olare Motorogi Conservancy is quite simply jaw-dropping, and you won't need to go far to see some unforgettable sights. All the drama that only nature can provide is on your doorstep.

Aman Resorts

Ultimate luxury hotel chain

... Sanctuaries ...

Nestled away on Phuket's west coast in Thailand sits the Amanpuri Resort. Ringed by a lush jungle on one side and magnificent views of the Andaman Sea on the other, its 40 Thai-style villas gently cascade down the hillside of a former coconut plantation, guaranteeing complete privacy for the royalty, celebrities, and tycoons who have been vacationing there for more than a quarter of a century. Amanpuri is the flagship of Aman Resorts, a glittering constellation of 26 properties stretching from Asia to Europe to North Africa and the U.S. Among its habitués is a group of passionate repeat customers who call themselves "Aman junkies." The resorts beguile them with their discreet luxury, exquisite attention to detail, otherworldly service, and breathtaking locales. One is perched on the edge of a national park in Rajasthan, India; another overlooks ninth-century Buddhist temples, surrounded by four volcanoes, in Java, another one tucked away in the Utah desert with its unbelievable pool that surround an 180 millions years old sacred rock.

For aficionados, Aman is much more than a hotel. It's an experience unrivaled anywhere else. At the Aman at Summer Palace in Beijing, guests have access to a secret door that opens onto the east gate of the palace gardens. At the Aman Grand Canal in Venice, they are allowed to visit the Doge's Palace and clock tower in St. Mark's Square after hours.

The world's best hot springs

When hot water bubbles up from the earth's surface, the resulting springs are among the most amazing natural wonders you'll ever encounter. For centuries, these mineral-rich waters have accumulated naturally in pools or been channeled into man-made spas, both options offering therapeutic and medicinal benefits, as well as good old-fashioned relaxation. And even if some of these springs aren't suitable for bathing, they're still photogenic enough for you to create hundreds of likes on Instagram. Here, among the world's best hot springs.

ADVENTURES ON ICE

_____ Finnish Lapland

Ice driving on a frozen lake is a unique and unforgettable experience. The driving is usually performed on a large frozen lake with a very solid surface where ice thickness is superior to 20 inches. It is a unique atmosphere in the middle of extraordinary and wild Northern nature with numerous frozen lakes.

Ice driving, snowmobile raid, Finnish saunas.

Introduction to ice driving techniques, learning to drive on ice, to brake, to control the skids, techniques for cornering and keeping control of the vehicle on ice and snow in all circumstances.

You will share authentic moments of discovery and adventure.

GREENLAND ADVENTURES

Nunanutaat The places that don't exist

Exploring

As a result of global warming, glaciers in the Kullorsuaq region are retreating at an alarming rate, revealing previously uncharted islands, peninsulas and bays. Together, we will discover these unexplored lands, which arouse both fear and envy, and take advantage of our adventure to bring back data on the state of the pack ice and the position of the glaciers to scientific teams. By measuring the thickness of the pack ice at these high latitudes, we'll be their eyes and hands in the field. The people of Kullorsuaq, masters of the ice and polar conditions, invite you to share their daily life in a truly exceptional way: dogs, sledges, pack ice, icebergs, fishing, the northern lights. They spend most of their lives navigating the pack ice by sled, and earn their livelihood from fishing and hunting, with immense respect for their nurturing environment.... An ancestral way of life. From Upernavik, the snowmobile trip takes 2 days through breathtaking landscapes and a few rare villages to reach the small community of Kullorsuaq.

The Equipment

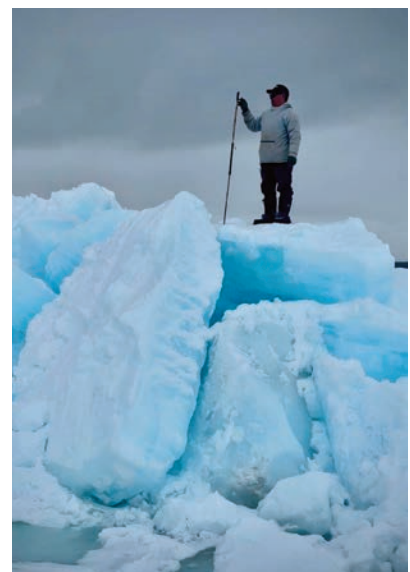

The sled, pulled by around 15 dogs, is the only means of locomotion authorized for travel in Melville Bay. From Kullorsuaq, it takes less than a day's sledging to reach the edge of the pack ice. depending on weather and ice conditions, you will sleep in tents or return to one of the houses in Kullorsuaq. an expedition to North Greenland is a physical, moral and financial commitment. in these regions, there is no room for improvisation or approximation. Everyone's comfort and safety depend on the quality and level of organization.

This exceptional adventure is the expedition of a lifetime ..

Nicolas Dubreuil,

Your guide, Ice Explorer Adventurer.

At the age of 18, he spent a month sailing up the Alaskan coast alone, and the following year he discovered the Far North. Since then, he has criss-crossed the remote regions of the Arctic and Antarctic by kayak, ski, sled or on foot.

As this is an expedition and not a simple tourist trip, extreme conditions, the state of the ice and pack ice, as well as material and technical hazards may influence the course of the expedition. The program and activities may be modified and adapted to take all these parameters into account.

Skiing in the USA If you're a winter sports enthusiast visiting the USA, we'll be taking you to some of the best snow in the world, and nearly 500 of the best resorts in the U.S. The two great American ski states are Utah and Colorado, although California and the north-western states are also well worth a visit.

COLORADO, UTAH

Along with Salt Lake City, Denver is the other great capital of American skiing! The state is crossed from north to south by the Rocky Mountains, whose highest point reaches 4,400 m. It's one of the best ski resorts in the USA, and above all glamorous, with the resorts of Vail, Aspen, Snowmass and Breckenridge.

Vail Ski Resort

has reached the top spot in terms of visitor numbers, with 1.6 million annual visitors! You guessed it, Vail is one of the most popular ski resorts in the USA!

Breckenridge.

The second-busiest ski resort in the USA is Breckenridge, with around 1.5 million visitors a year on the 155 runs of its 1,177-hectare ski area. The highest chairlift in the country takes skiers to 3,910 m above sea level. Vertigo and beautiful views guaranteed!

Aspen / Snowmass

a complex comprising several resorts, including the giant Snowmass and the super-chic Aspen. Snowmass has the biggest vertical drop in the USA, with 94 runs and a difference of 1,340 m between the top of the slopes and the resort! But Aspen's added value lies elsewhere. It's the resort of choice for Hollywood stars, artists and US businessmen. In fact, Aspen is the 9th most expensive real estate town in the country! If you want to combine skiing in the USA with autograph hunting, Aspen is the place to ski.

Other stations, Telluride, California with Mammoth Lake, Squaw Valley, Heavenly Valley, the Wyoming with Jackson Hole.

Alaska Cruises

Several week-long cruises allow you to discover Alaska and its Passages.

for example: The "Voyages of the Glaciers" departs from Vancouver for a 7-day tour of Ketchikan, Juneau, Skagway, Glacier Bay National Park, College Fjord and Whittier.

The "Northern Glacier Tour" also departs from Vancouver for 7 days to discover Icy Strait Point and the impressive 100km-long Hubbard Glacier, with Skagway, Juneau etc.

With the "Inside Passage", expect to discover Orcas, sea otters and other marine animals, departing from Anchorage, via Juneau, Icy Strait Point and Sawyer Glacier.

Most Alaska cruises take place from May to September.

ADVENTURES IN THE ICY WORLD

Greenland - The Sea Unicorn

On the trail of the Narwhals with the last hunters of the poles

Come and witness the most incredible migration in the Arctic and join the last hunters of the Pole in the heart of Melville Bay on the trail of narwhals and belugas.

In May, with the arrival of permanent daylight, the first open-water leads form between the fast ice and the sea ice. This is when Narwhals begin their migration, sometimes in groups of 3 to 5, and up to 100 individuals, towards Melville Bay in northern Greenland. It's at this time that Greenlanders take to their kayaks and tents to reach the edge of the pack ice on sledges, and watch with them for the arrival of Narwhals, Belugas and often their predator, the Polar Bear.

This will be a unique opportunity to try kayaking or diving in the pack ice to observe this exceptional encounter.

GREENLAND

This exceptional adventure is the expedition of a lifetime ...

The Exploration

The people of Kullorsuaq have done us the honor of accepting us into their midst, allowing us to share some very special moments in their lives. They will set the pace for this unique mission, giving us access to their world, their customs and their know-how. To offer you this authentic experience, Nicolas Dubreuil will be your guide and interpreter, enabling you to communicate with them. The inhabitants of Kullorsuaq, masters of the ice and polar conditions, invite you to share their daily life in an exceptional way: dogs, sledges, ice floes, icebergs, fishing, northern lights... An ancestral way of life.

The Equipment

The sled, pulled by around 15 dogs, is the only means of locomotion authorized for travel in Melville Bay, and the kayak is the only way to silently approach the narwhals.

From Kullorsuaq, it takes less than a day's sledging to reach the edge of the pack ice.. Depending on weather and ice conditions, you'll sleep in tents or return to one of the houses in Kullorsuaq.

Guardians of an ancestral tradition, the inhabitants of Kullorsuaq spend most of their lives navigating the ice floes by sledge, and derive their livelihood from fishing and hunting, with immense respect for their nurturing environment.

Nicolas Dubreuil,

your guide, Ice Explorer Adventurer. At the age of 18, he spent a month sailing up the Alaskan coast alone, and the following year he discovered the Far North. Since then, he has criss-crossed the remote regions of the Arctic and Antarctic by kayak, ski, sled or on foot..

CRUISES in Europe

The Danube is one of Europe's most beautiful rivers. From its source in Germany's Black Forest to its mouth in the Black Sea, it flows through 10 countries, more than a dozen cities and four capitals. Budapest in Hungary is the most common departure or arrival point for cruises on the Danube, due to its location and the splendor of the river that flows through the city. The cruise between Vienna and Budapest is one of the most popular on the continent, but it's possible to go even further. There are several options for cruising to Austria or to Prague and the Czech Republic on the Danube's major tributaries. The Danube offers panoramic and cultural wonders.

The Rhine links Switzerland to the Netherlands, where it flows into the North Sea. Along the way, it passes through six countries (Switzerland, Liechtenstein, Austria, Germany, France and the Netherlands) and some of the region's most famous cities, Basel, Strasbourg, Cologne, Düsseldorf, Koblenz and Rotterdam. The diversity of landscape, architecture and culture along the Rhine makes it one of Europe's best cruises. The Middle Rhine, a UNESCO World Heritage Site, is a magnificent region to visit by boat. Beyond these 40 km, you'll pass through spectacular landscapes dotted with historic towns, ancient castles and award-winning vineyards.

The magnificent Douro River offers a tempting cruising option in the far west of Europe. The river flows through Spain and Portugal, allowing you to explore many fascinating cities and attractions. The Douro is one of the largest rivers on the Iberian Peninsula. From its source in northern Spain, it flows to the famous Portuguese coastal city of Porto, where most cruises begin and end. The Douro Valley is a UNESCO World Heritage Site. This incredible valley, along with several postcard-worthy towns and ancient cities, will give you a glimpse of some of Portugal's oldest culture and traditions.

Sweden and the Gota Canal - There's no better way to discover Sweden's unique beauty than to venture out on the 370 km waterway linking Gothenburg to the Baltic Sea, known as the Gota Canal, which can be sailed aboard a breathhtaking 25-cabin steamboat dating from 1912. The canal will take you past churches, castles and remote Swedish villages over four or six days. Most itineraries along the country's famous blue ribbon pass through locks that offer incredible views.

Danube, Rhin, Main, Douro, Gota Canal, Pô, Oder, Moselle, Rhône, Seine, Elbe, Loire, Tamise

The Po River is Italy's longest, stretching over 400 km from Venice. While passing through cities such as Turin, Piacenza, Mantua and Ferrara, it's only possible to cruise 160 km to the city of Mantua. Cruises along the Po begin with the most famous canalised city of all, Venice. There are several stops along the way, but most cruises will include towns such as Murano, Burano and Verona. Land connections often allow excursions to famous towns close to the river, including Bologna, Ravenna and Ferrara.

Po cruises last from five to 13 days, with most taking place between March and October. Although Italy is not a major river cruise destination, it is perhaps one of the most unique ways to explore some of the country's most iconic cities.

The Elbe is of historic importance as the only border between East and West Germany. Today, it links Germany to the Czech Republic, connecting Berlin to Prague. Cruises along the Elbe offer travelers more obscure cities, such as Meissen and its earthenware and Luther's city of Wittenberg, authentic glimpses of the region's fascinating culture. The magnificent city of Dresden is well worth a stop. Totally destroyed during the 2nd World War, it has been magnificently rebuilt. There are many ways to cruise along the Elbe, but the best starting point is Berlin, which is close to the river. From there, you can cruise along the river to Prague in eight days, with many picturesque stops.

Most of the time it's a short sightseeing trip to London that brings you to the Thames. But this iconic river doesn't just flow through the British capital. The Thames meanders quietly through eight English counties, from the Cotswold Hills to the North Sea. Along the way, it passes through such prestigious cities as Oxford, Reading and Windsor. Much of the river is controlled by locks, but the last 50 miles are tidal, which means that not all ships can access this section. If you're planning an overnight excursion on the famous river, your best bet may be to book a ticket aboard a converted barge with a maximum capacity of eight people.

Prague has no less than three highest level opera houses: the National Theatre, majestically adorned, with an emphasis on the works of Czech composers, a little cozier State Theatre, and the historic Estates Theatre where the premiere of Mozart's Don Giovanni was performed.

The Metropolitan Opera in New York proudly presents an impressive number of international opera stars every season – offering a performance every night and on Saturday mornings, this is certainly the most productive opera house.

In recent seasons, dozens of operas have been presented to the public, from Gluck's Iphigenie en Tauride to John Adam's Nixon in China and Puccini's gold-rush opera La Fanciulla del West. Sopranos Rachel Willis-Sorensen and Angela Meade are among the undisputed stars.

For the rest of 2024-2025, the Metropolitan Opera offers a vast program ranging from Rigoletto, La Tosca and La Bohème, to Antony and Cleopatra and the December 31 evening of Aida. From January to March 2025 (no performances in February), you can enjoy grandiose revivals of Magic Flute, Fidelio and many others.

CULTURAL AND MUSICAL EVENTS

Musical Olympus International Festival

Olympus music festival in St Petersburg has become a major event for young and talented artists. The festival is also largely supported by the greatest artists the world, many of them members of its honor committee. The festival has come to be known as a “parade of winners”, as the most talented young musicians who have won prizes in the most prestigious international musical competitions are featured here each year: First Prize of the Donatella Flick International for Conductors, First Prize of the Jean Sibelius violin contest, First Prize of Maria Callas Grand Prix – the Soprano Sunyoung Seo. The Festival is supported by the World Federation of International Musical Contests .

In recent years, the festival has featured more than 300 musicians from more than 28 countries.

Numerous participants of the Festival have had solid international careers: Nikolay Znaider (violin), Martin Froest (clarinet), Daishin Kashimoto (violin), Eldar Nebolsin (piano), Alexei Volodin (piano), Sayaka Shoji (violin), Tugan Sokhiev (direction), Marina Poplavskaya (soprano), and many others.

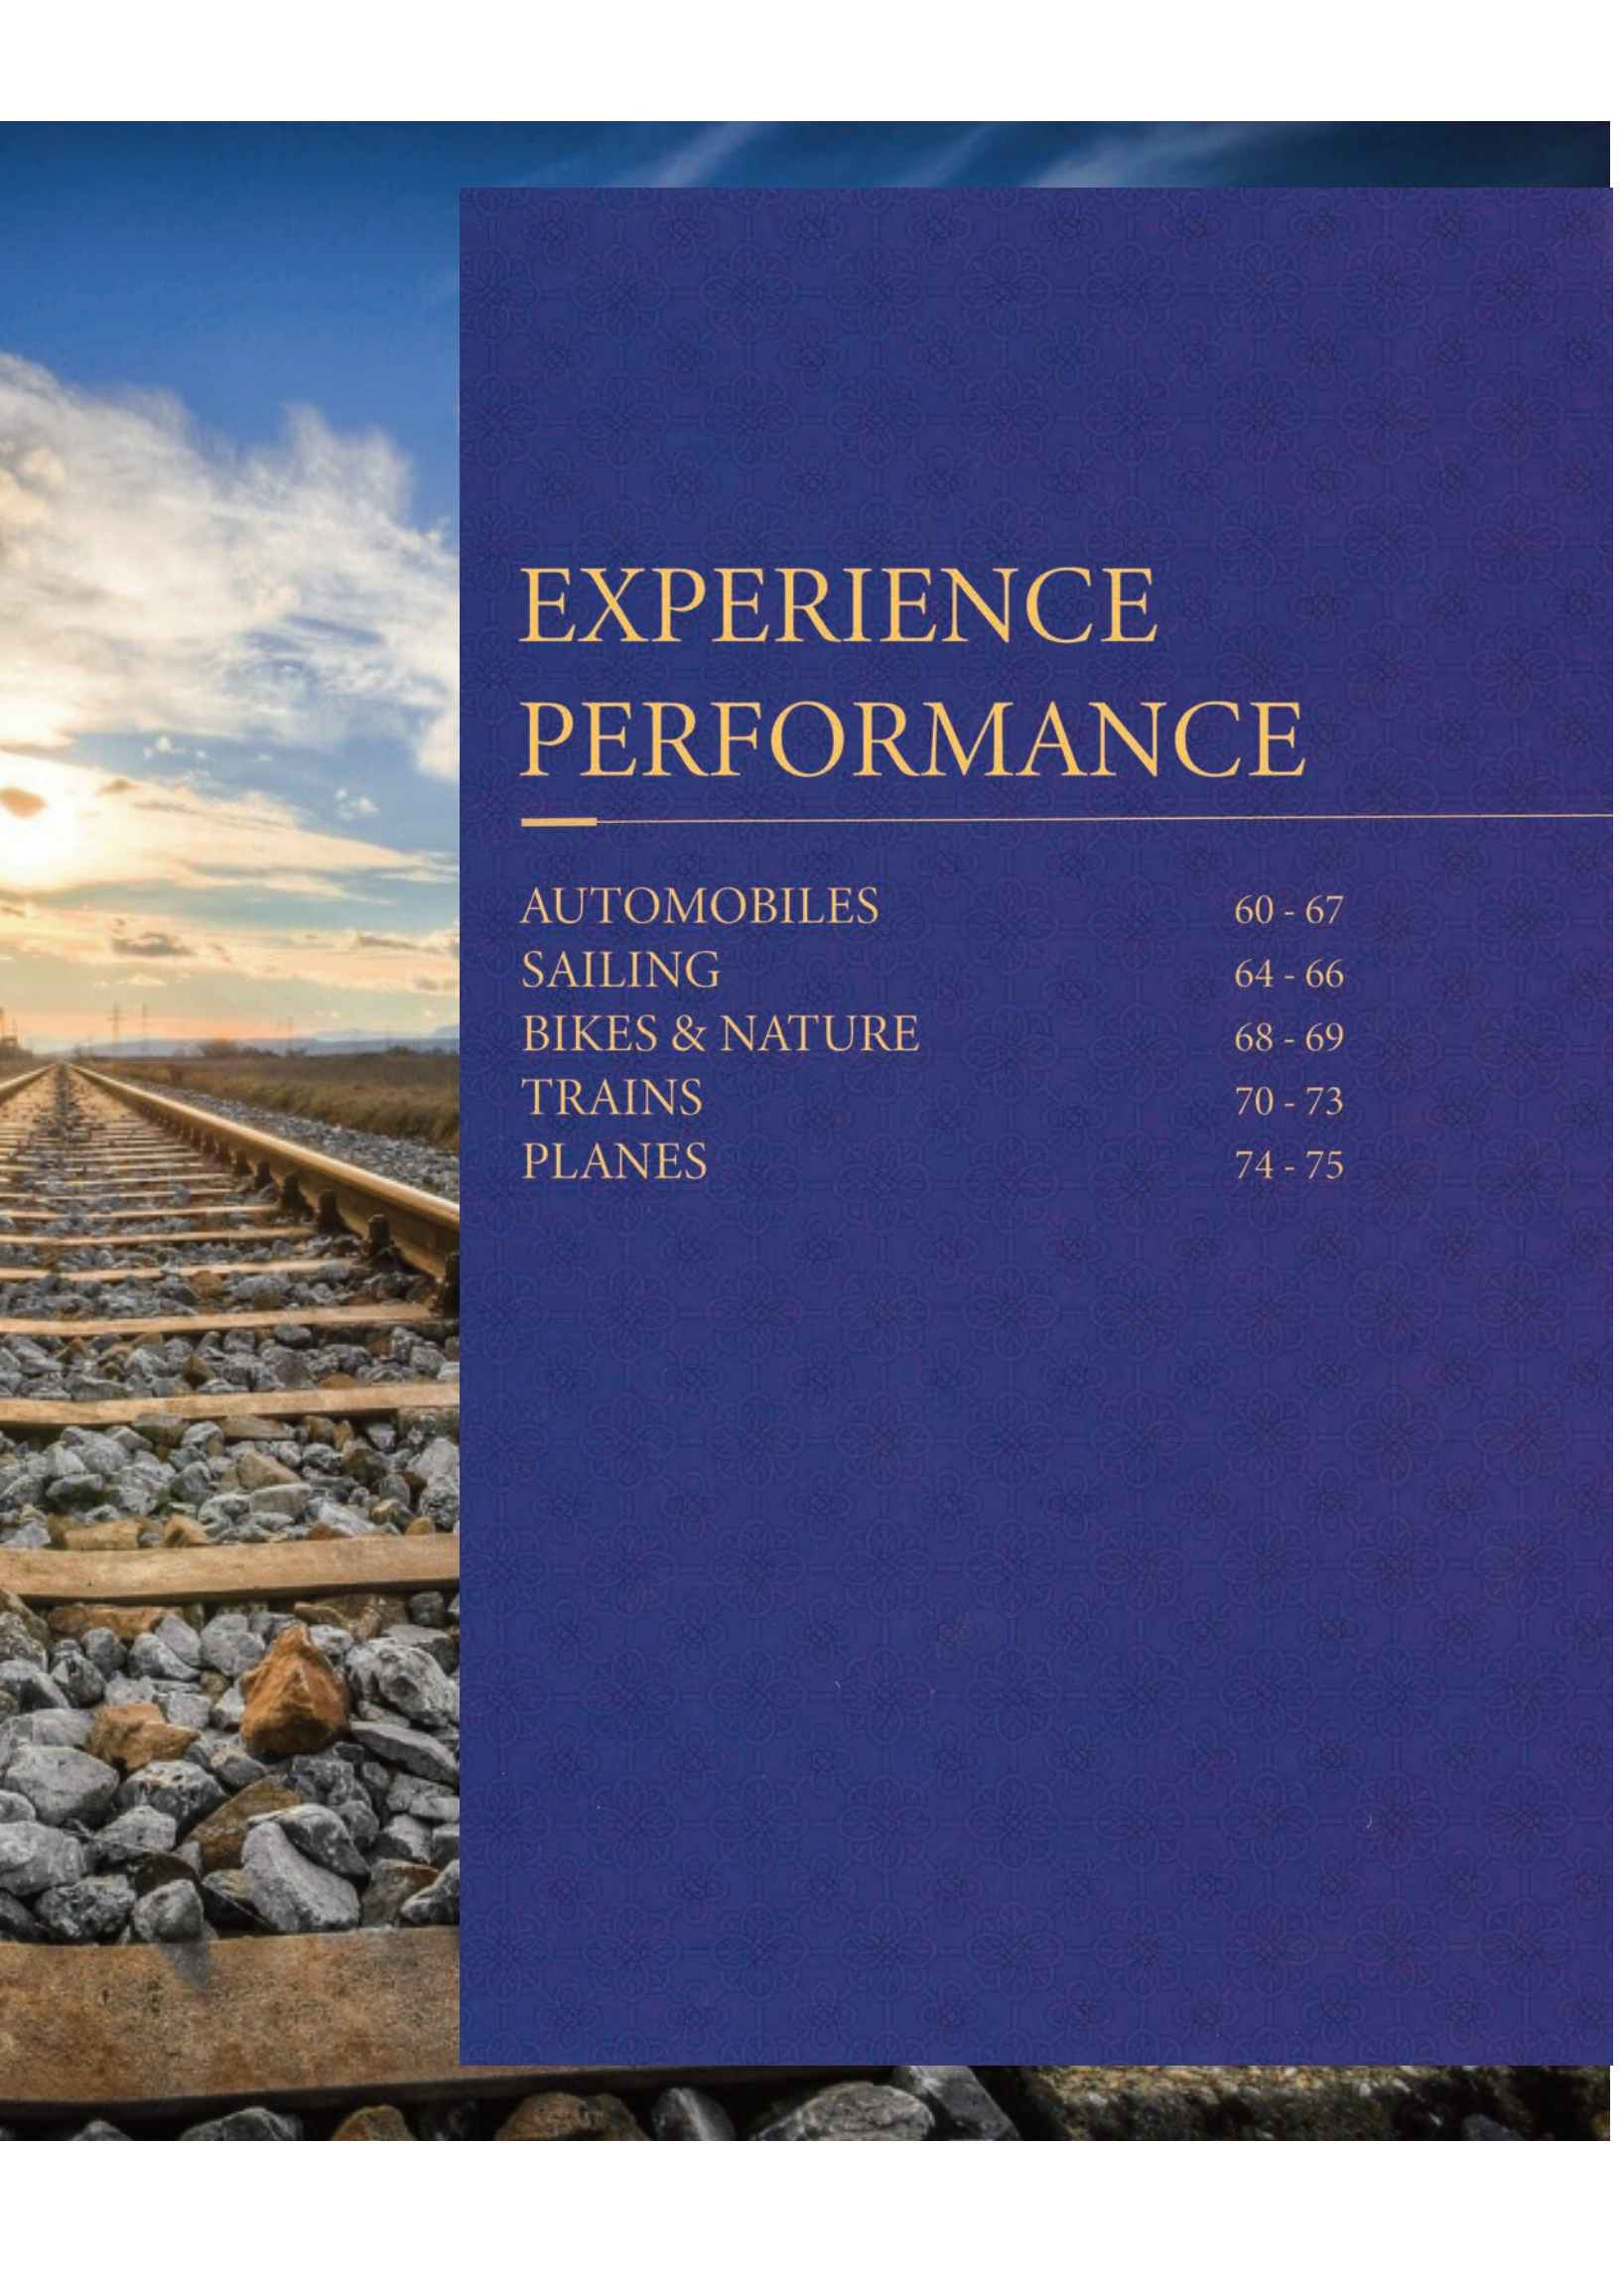

In 2007, the Foundation presented the Musical Festival in the Carnegie Hall of New York. Concerts of the Olympus Music Festival also take place in other musical cities like Zurich, Berlin, Singapore and London.

WORLD'S LEGENDARY TRAINS

CALIFORNIA ZEPHYR, CALIFORNIA

Route: Chicago-Emeryville. Distance: 3,924 km. Journey time: 51h20.

Arguably THE legendary train in the USA since it entered service in 1949. Appreciated by many Hollywood stars of the 50s, its 100% stainless steel silhouette shone as brightly as its illustrious passengers.

The Zephyr was the first train to be equipped with panoramic roof cars, much to the delight of passengers as they traversed the sumptuous landscapes of the American West over a distance of almost 4,000 km.

TREN A LAS NUBES, ARGENTINA

Route: Salta-Viaduc de la Polvorilla. Distance: 217 km.
Journey time: 16.40hrs

The 3rd highest train in the world is well worth a visit, as it is so unique. The terminus is a 70-metre-high viaduct. This former mining line, now almost exclusively a tourist attraction, delights passengers with its atypical and spectacular route. On the program: 3,000 meters of vertical drop over 29 bridges, 12 viaducts, 21 tunnels and 2 spiral loops. Whether it's the altitude of 4,220 meters or the impressive viaducts that seem to hang in the air, this train fully deserves its name of "train of the clouds", speeding along at 35km/h.

INDIAN PACIFIC , EAST-WEST AUSTRALIA

Route: Sydney-Perth. Distance: 4,352 km. Travel time: 65h.

The transcontinental links the Pacific and Indian Oceans. For more than 4,300 km between Sydney and Perth lies a completely different kind of ocean, this one red: the Australian desert. This immense route is far from monotonous! It skirts the famous Blue Mountains, and is also the route of ore: the silver of Broken Hill, the gold of Kalgoorlie, where it stops. After Adelaide, the great plain of Nullabor, or "Oondiri" to the Aborigines, begins. This is also where you'll find the world's longest straight stretch, at 478 km! The grandiose landscapes of the Australian desert take on even greater splendor at sunset, when the red earth seems ready to burst into flames.

Watches that have changed the world

Watches that changed the watch that everyone was wearing. Since the Cartier Tank, which is probably the most counterfeit watch, a rare and exclusive watch made in 1919 with 6 specimens; the Rolex Submariner with its simple and rough design, James Bond (Sean Connery) was wearing it. The Audemar Piguet's Royal Oak the very first steel watch released at the same time Seiko released the first quartz watches. Ulysse Nardin almost shocked with the well-named Freak by its novelties. The Seiko Astron in 1969 the embodiment of quartz before everyone else. Breguet with the first complicated, innovative and magnificent Tourbillon. The Zenith El Primero, may be the first watch with self-winding automatic system, and too bad if Breitling, Heuer and Seiko also offered the same mechanism the same year. When all the watches were based on an identical movement by lever, Omega came to the market with the innovative co-axial system. Not to mention those that defy the design ... and prices.

Maharadjahs culinary art

India does not only smell the fragrance of jasmine and roses or sandalwood, it has also the smell of spices, one of the main elements of its cuisine. Its mixtures of spices and various ingredients make it a unique cuisine. A true crossroads of civilizations, here the inhabitants do not always eat the same thing as their neighbors, the preparations vary according to the religion, the region, the caste .

The cuisine is different depending on whether it comes from the North or from the South.

North Indian cuisine reflect of the strong Central Asian influences and the impact of Mughlai cuisine is evident. In areas such as Punjab, Haryana and Uttar Pradesh the chapati is a staple food prepared with a variety of flours such as wheat, rice, maida, besan etc. It is always associated with Tandoori, Rumaali and Naan.

The coastal cuisines of Southern India use a lot of spices, fish and coconut. Tamil food is distinguished from other cuisines by the use of tamarind while the cooking style of Andhra Pradesh uses in abundance chilies. In Kerala, you can taste delicious dishes, lamb stew, Malabar fried shrimp, Idlis, Dosas, fish molie, puttu rice and delicious sweets made with coconut milk.

*Culinary Adventure in the Kerala from 8 to 11 days,

GOLFER tGOLFER

We all have "our" natural swing that lives deep within our bodies. The one that is by far more important than any technical advice and will offer you the joy of playing golf. This is the game spirit I want introduce at our first meeting.

That individual movement must not disappear, but it should be optimized. The tee off, too often a source of concern for amateur players, will become the engine of your swing and not the enemy. One essential element of learning golf is often overlooked: the pleasure of learning a little more every day.

Keeping this in mind, I propose you a simple understanding of your swing, not a mechanically predefined one. Stop trying to imitate someone else's swing, stop focusing on what you think are your shortcomings. Stop trying to imitate someone else's swing, stop focusing on what you think are your shortcomings.

With my solid experience I will help you to develop your swing and your potential. Good Golf and – especially – have fun!... Jean-François Remesy

HUNTING IN CZECH REPUBLIC and CENTRAL EUROPE

Prague Hunt

About hunting in the Czech Republic

Hunting has a long and rich tradition in the lands that are now part of the Czech Republic. At least as far back as the 11th century, nobles rode in groups to hunt deer and wild boar, and hunting castles were built to accommodate the hunters, with gamekeepers employed and trained on most landholdings. The Czech Republic is home to excellent populations of alpine chamois, red deer, fallow deer, roe deer, mouflon and wild boar. The country is best known for its mouflons, which grow to impressive size here. Introduced from Corsica by Count Forgach in 1868, the mouflon has thrived in the high hills of the Czech Republic ever since, and seven of the world's ten largest mouflon heads have been caught here. The countryside includes vast wooded areas and sparsely populated farmland, and there are numerous hunting lodges and hotels.

GENERAL CONDITIONS :

General sale conditions are governed by the decree N° 94-490 of 15 June 1994 concerning implementation of the Article 31 of law N° 92-645 of 13 July 1992 establishing the conditions for activities related to the organization and sale of travel and holiday services.

Article 95: Apart from exceptional circumstances referred to in the second paragraph (a and b) and in Article 14 of the above-mentioned law of 13 July 1992, all offers and sales of travel and holiday services are subject to issuing of documents complying with the rules set out in the present article. In cases where airline tickets or scheduled transport tickets are sold without additional services related to the transportation, ticket(s) issued by the carrier or under its responsibility, covering the entire journey, are delivered by the vendor. In cases of transport on demand, tickets must contain the mention of the name and the address of the carrier on whose behalf the tickets are issued.

Separate billing for items included in the overall package does not free the vendor from the obligations stipulated in the present article.

Article 96: Prior to conclusion of the contract, the vendor must provide the customer with a document stipulating its company status, address and indication of administrative operating license, and containing the dates, price and other details of proposed travel or holiday services, namely the following:

- 1) destination and the means, characteristics and categories of proposed transport;
- 2) type, location, comfort level and main characteristics of the accommodation, as well as its compliance with standards and tourist rating corresponding to the legislation and practices of the host country;
- 3) meals provided;
- 4) in case of a tour, description of the itinerary;
- 5) indication of administrative and health formalities to be undertaken, with related timeframes, particularly in cases of cross-border traveling;
- 6) visits, excursions and other services included in the package and those available for an additional fee;
- 7) minimum or maximum number of persons required for a group travel or holiday in question, as well as deadline for cancellation and informing the participants of group travels or holidays requiring a minimum number of persons; this deadline cannot be shorter than 21 days prior to the date of departure;
- 8) amount or percentage of the total price corresponding to deposit paid upon concluding the contract, and the payment schedule for the remaining amount;
- 9) price revision modalities foreseen in the contract, in application of Article 100 of the present decree;
- 10) cancellation conditions as stated in the contract (see the Article on modification fees hereafter);
- 11) cancellation conditions as defined in Articles 101, 102 and 103 of the present decree;
- 12) details regarding the risks covered and amounts guaranteed under the insurance contract covering the consequences of professional liability of travel agencies as well as the liability of local tourism associations and bodies;
- 13) information concerning any additional non-obligatory insurance covering the consequences of certain cancellation cases as well as assistance policy covering certain risks in particular, like repatriation costs in case of accident or illness.

Article 97: Information initially provided to the customer is binding unless the vendor has explicitly reserved the right to modify certain elements while providing the initial information. In that case, the vendor has to clearly indicate the extent to which such modifications could take place and elements likely to be affected. All modifications of the initially provided information must be communicated to the customer in writing and before the conclusion of the contract.

Article 98: The contract concluded between the vendor and the customer must be written and signed by the two parties in a duplicate copy, one of which is handed to the customer. The contract must include the following:

- 1) names and addresses of the vendor, his guarantor and his insurer, as well as the organizer's name and address;
- 2) travel destination or destinations and, in case of division of the trip into different periods, the dates of those periods;
- 3) the means, characteristics and categories of transport, as well as outward and return travel dates, times and places;
- 4) type, location, comfort level and main characteristics of the accommodation, as well as its compliance with standards and tourist rating corresponding to the legislation and practices of the host country;

- 5) number of meals provided;
- 6) itinerary in case of a tour;
- 7) visits, excursions and other services covered by the travel or holiday package;
- 8) total price of the invoiced services as well as references to possible invoicing modifications as provided for in Article 100 of the present decree;
- 9) if applicable, indication of charges or taxes arising from services such as landing, boarding and disembarkation in ports and airports as well as tourist taxes or resort fees where those are not included in the price of the provided service(s);
- 10) dates and terms of payment. The final payment made by the customer cannot be inferior to 30 % of the total travel or holiday price and must be carried out upon the delivery of documents permitting to undertake that travel or holiday;
- 11) any particular conditions requested by the customer and granted by the vendor;
- 12) terms of submitting customer's claims against the vendor for non-execution or inadequate execution of the contract. Such claims must be submitted to the vendor as soon as possible by a registered letter with an acknowledgement of receipt and should, if necessary, be notified in writing to the trip organizer and service provider concerned;
- 13) in cases where group travels or holidays require a minimum number of participants, as set out in paragraph 7 of Article 96 – a deadline for informing the customer about cancellation of the trip or holiday by the vendor;
- 14) cancellation conditions as stated in the contract;
- 15) cancellation conditions as defined in Articles 101, 102 and 103 of the present decree;
- 16) details regarding the risks covered and amounts guaranteed under the insurance contract covering the consequences of professional liability of the vendor;
- 17) information concerning the insurance contract covering the consequences of certain cancellation cases by the customer (insurer's name and policy number) as well as the information about assistance contract covering certain risks in particular, like repatriation costs in case of accident or illness; in this case, the vendor shall provide the customer with a document stipulating at least the covered and uncovered risks;
- 18) the deadline for informing the vendor about termination of the contract by the customer;
- 19) obligation to provide the customer at least 10 days before departure with written information regarding the following:
 - a) name, address and telephone number of the vendor's local representative or, if this is not possible, emergency numbers permitting to contact the vendor;
 - b) in case of travel or holidays abroad for minors, a telephone number and an address for directly contacting the child or the adult responsible at the destination.

Article 99: The customer may sell his contract to another person who fulfills the same conditions as himself/herself for undertaking the travel or holiday, provided that the contract has not yet taken effect. Unless stated differently, the new customer is bound to inform the vendor of his decision by a registered letter with an acknowledgement of receipt no later than seven days before the start date of the travel or holiday. For cruises, the notification deadline is 15 days.

Article 100 : When the contract explicitly stipulates the possibility of price modification within the limits provided for in the aforementioned Article 19 of the law of 13 July 1992, it must precisely describe the terms of calculation of the increase and decrease, price variations including the amount of transport charges and related taxes, currency(ies) likely to affect the price of the travel or holiday service, parts of the price affected by the variation, reference rate(s) of the currency/ies for establishing the initial price in the contract.

Article 101 : If the vendor is obliged to modify one of the main elements of the contract, such as significant increase of price, before the customer's departure, the latter may - without prejudice to his/her right to claim compensation for damages caused and after notifying the vendor about it by a registered letter with an acknowledgement of receipt: either resiliate his contract with immediate reimbursement of all amounts already paid, or accept the modification or an alternative trip proposed by the vendor; an addendum to the contract stipulating the modifications is thus signed by both parties; any price reduction will be deducted from the amounts still unpaid by the customer, and in cases where the customer has already paid the full amount which exceeds the price of the modified service, the excess shall be returned to the customer before departure.

Article 102 : In the case provided for in Article 21 of the above-mentioned law of 13th July 1992 when the vendor cancels the trip or holiday before the customer's departure, the former shall inform the customer by a registered letter with an acknowledgement of receipt; the customer, without prejudice to his/her right to claim compensation for damages caused, recovers immediately and with no further charges the amount already paid to the vendor; in this case, the customer receives a compensation amounting at least to the penalty (s)he would have to pay in case of cancellation on the same date. The provisions of the present article do not prevent the conclusion of an agreement whereby the customer would accept an alternative travel or holiday service proposed by the vendor.

Article 103 : In cases where after the departure of the customer, the vendor is unable to provide an essential part of the services foreseen in the contract which constitute a significant percentage of the price paid by the customer, the vendor shall immediately take the following measures, without prejudice to right to claim compensation for damages caused:

either suggest alternative services to replace those initially foreseen, bearing all possible additional costs and, in case the services accepted by the customer are of an inferior quality, reimbursing the price difference upon the customer's return; or, if the vendor is unable to propose alternative services or if these are refused by the customer on reasonable grounds, he shall provide to the customer at no additional cost new tickets for his/her return in equivalent conditions to the place of departure or to a different destination agreed by both parties.

PARTICULAR CONDITIONS

In all cases, enrollment in one of our travels or holidays implies taking into account and accepting the general and particular conditions detailed in this document.

Article 1 - Registration and Payment:

For validation, each enrollment has to be accompanied by payment amounting to 50% of the total travel cost.

The final invoice corresponding to the confirmed travel service with possible modifications made at a later stage will be issued 90 days before departure.

The balance is due no later than 75 days before departure. For validation of enrollments less than 90 days before departure, the payment must be made at one time, corresponding to the full amount of the invoice. Enrollment will only be considered valid upon the receipt of the full payment.

Article 2 - Formalities: The formalities indicated in our documents concern French citizens who should make sure that their travel documents comply with customs and health requirements. As for foreign nationals, their enrollment implies that they have verified and, in case of need, undertaken the necessary procedures to guarantee their compliance with the immigration rules of the countries they intend to visit. All costs related to obtaining the necessary documents are borne by the customer.

Note: Information concerning transportation of dogs as well as hunting and fishing equipment are transmitted by us, on the condition that it is provided by the customer upon enrollment. This is a free service and its validation depends on the provider of the transport service. In case of refusal by the latter, the possible costs of rebooking are to be borne by the customer.

Article 3 - Cancellation: If the customer has to cancel his trip, he must inform GREAT CONCEPT s.r.o. as soon as possible by a registered letter with an acknowledgement of receipt. For billing purposes, the date of the acknowledgement of receipt will be retained as the official cancellation date.

For cancellations made more than 60 days before departure, GREAT CONCEPT s.r.o. will retain a cancellation fee of € 150 per person, which is not covered by the cancellation insurance of the service providers, in cases where airline tickets have not yet been issued. In case the tickets have been issued, we refer to the first tranche of the scale below, or in the case of flights only, to the carrier's transport conditions.

For cancellations 60 or less days before departure, the cancellation fee schedule is as follows:

- From 60 to 46 days before departure: 50% of the total travel cost,
- From 45 days before to the day of departure: 100% of the total travel cost.

If several persons travel together and one of them opts for cancellation, the cancellation fee is deducted from the total amount of the travel cost, regardless which person made the payment. The cancellation cost of services shared by all participants will be divided by their total number and deducted in addition to the above-mentioned cancellation fee.

Note that the insurance premium is retained by the company that has signed the contract. When purchasing flights only or some special services, the above-mentioned conditions of cancellation can be modified in favor of the supplier. This will be clearly stated in the related document.

Article 4 - Rates: According to the law, GREAT CONCEPT s.r.o. may be obliged to modify the rates quoted upon the confirmation of enrollment, to take into account the following:

- changes of transport costs related to the price of fuel,
- modification of fees and charges applicable to the services such as airport taxes, boarding or disembarkation fees or local taxes,
- variations of currency exchange rates – in this case, the average increase or decrease of rates will be communicated no later than 90 days before departure only if this implies a change superior to 3% of the total travel cost.

After this date the price will be considered final, unless the file is cancelled. // unless the file has not been settled

In case of an increase of the total cost, the customer will have one week to confirm the purchase or withdrawal. The latter will entail no cancellation fees if the total increase is more than 10% of the initial price. If the increase is less than 10%, cancellation fees apply according to the conditions stated in the previous paragraph.

Article 5 – Responsibilities and reclamations:

GREAT CONCEPT s.r.o. shall not be held responsible in the following circumstances:

- failure to comply with customs and health requirements. Failure to present the necessary travel documents is considered as cancellation on the day of departure (see Cancellation).
- failure to present a valid driver's license or a credit card for renting a vehicle, or not taking note of the contract details and, in particular, concerning the franchise and warranty fees.
- loss or change of transport documents.
- refusal by the carrier to ship dogs, guns, canes or other non-standard luggage.
- change of the initial itinerary for considerations of higher comfort or due to circumstances beyond our control (strikes, weather conditions, etc.), provided that all booked services would be guaranteed.
- refusal of coverage by the insurance provider in exceptional cases listed under general conditions (Cancellation) or if the customer's actions were not pre-approved by the insurer (medical expenses, repatriation).

In cases where modifications of the initial contract are caused by an airline company, GREAT CONCEPT s.r.o. is covered by the Montreal Convention governing the relationship between the air carrier and the passenger. Claims related to customer dissatisfaction with the travel carrier service should be submitted with the local representative for an immediate solution and will not be taken into account under any circumstances after return. All claims with supporting documents must be submitted by a registered letter with an acknowledgement of receipt no later than one month following the date of return. Claims submitted past this deadline will not be considered.
